

Course Title: Applied Multi Level Analyses in Cross-National Research

Lecturer: Prof. Dr. Heiner Meulemann

Course number	1343
Location/Room	Building 335: Greinstraße 2, ASF / 0.12
Time	Wednesdays, 10:00am-11:30am
Credit Points	6 ECTS
Type of course	PhD course
Course Language	English

1. Objectives

In this seminar, published research (Journal articles as well as books) on multi-level analyses will be analyzed. That is: (1) The justification of the micro and, particularly, macro hypotheses, (2) the adequacy of the chosen country samples and country level indicators, (3) the appropriateness of the analysis methods and (4) the validity of the results will be discussed.

The research discussed in the seminar will refer to four life domains: politics, economics, civil society, comprising family, social security systems and associations; and culture, comprising education, mass communication and religion.

2. Prerequisites

Necessary prerequisites: Knowledge of regression techniques. Target audience: students planning an empirical dissertation.

3. Relevance for study programmes
